HOST INSTITUTION

University of North Carolina at Greensboro

ABOUT UNC GREENSBORO

UNC Greensboro, located in the Piedmont Triad region of North Carolina, is one of only 57 doctoral institutions recognized by the Carnegie Foundation for both higher research activity and community engagement. Founded in 1891 and one of the original three UNC system institutions, UNC Greensboro is one of the most diverse universities in the state, with nearly 20,000 students and more than 2,700 faculty and staff members representing more than 90 nationalities. With 17 Division I athletics teams, 85 undergraduate degrees in more than 100 areas of study, as well as 74 master's and 32 doctoral programs, UNC Greensboro is consistently recognized nationally among the top universities for academic excellence and value, with noted strengths in health and wellness, visual and performing arts, nursing, education and more.

HOST ORGANIZATION

Greensboro Sports Foundation

GREENSBORO
SPORTS FOUNDATION

ABOUT THE GREENSBORO SPORTS FOUNDATION

The Greensboro Sports Foundation is the local organizing committee for the major sporting events Greensboro regularly hosts, including NCAA championships, Atlantic Coast Conference championships as well as those conducted by U.S. Figure Skating, USA Swimming and USA Gymnastics, among others. The GSF and the events it supports enrich Greensboro's quality of life while creating economic development through sports tourism, which benefits not only Greensboro but also all of central North Carolina. Founded in 1993 as the Tournament Hosts of Greensboro, the GSF mission is, in part, "to foster national, amateur and other sports competition in the Greensboro, Guilford County and Piedmont Triad areas to maximize the positive impact on the area's economy, national image and community pride by organizing and operating ACC and NCAA regular season and postseason games and events."

How We Support College Athletes

NCAA

101

Opportunities and Experiences

► Each year, the NCAA funds 90 championships in 24 sports, including paying for almost 14 million miles of travel to get athletes to the competitions.

► More than 90% of former student-athletes surveyed 10 years after finishing their eligibility reported they were satisfied with their overall college experience.

Financial Assistance

► NCAA schools award nearly $3.5 billion in athletics scholarships every year to more than 180,000 student-athletes.

► Many NCAA Division I schools offer cost of attendance so student-athletes can receive funds to help with additional college costs not covered by a scholarship.

► The NCAA finances a Student Assistance Fund of more than $86 million each year to help Division I athletes with essential needs, from flying home for a family emergency to buying a winter coat.

Wellness and Insurance

► The NCAA's Sport Science Institute promotes health and safety through research and training on concussions, overuse injuries, drug testing, mental health, sexual assault and more.

► The NCAA funds an insurance policy covering all college athletes who experience catastrophic injuries while playing or practicing their sport — providing up to $20 million in lifetime insurance benefits.

Academic Services

► NCAA schools help student-athletes succeed in the classroom by providing state-of-the-art technology, tutoring and access to academic advisors.

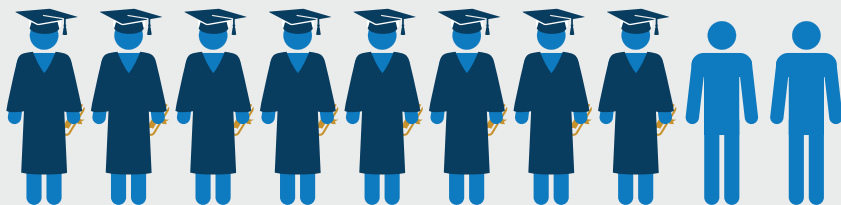

► Resulting from academic reforms, more than 17,500 former college athletes in Division I have returned to campus to complete their degrees since 2004. The NCAA also offers a degree-completion program, and schools can fund additional scholarships to help former athletes graduate.

► To support the nutritional needs of student-athletes, Division I and II schools can provide unlimited meals. Some schools have nutritionists and other health professionals to work with players.

► Student-athletes are graduating at rates higher than the student body, and in Division I, more than 8 in 10 student-athletes are earning bachelor's degrees, their highest rate ever.

Personal and Professional Development

► The NCAA offers education and training programs, such as the Student-Athlete Leadership Forum and Career in Sports Forum, which are designed to enhance the well-being and personal development of college athletes.

► The NCAA After The Game Career Center connects former student-athletes with career-seeking advice and job postings for various industries and levels of experience.

ELITE 90

ACADEMIC RECOGNITION AWARD PROGRAM

The Elite 90, an award founded by the NCAA, recognizes the true essence of the student-athlete by honoring the individual who has reached the pinnacle of competition at the national championship level in his or her sport, while also achieving the highest academic standard among his or her peers. The Elite 90 is presented to the student-athlete with the highest cumulative grade-point average participating at the finals site for each of the NCAA's 90 championships.

SELECTION CRITERIA

1. Student-athlete must be at least a sophomore academically and athletically in the sport for which they are being nominated, and in at least his or her second year (in any sport) at his or her current institution.
2. Student-athlete is an active member on the roster, eligible for the championship, and a member of the designated squad size at the championship site in sports with squad size limitations. For team sports: If they are injured during the course of one of the NCAA tournament games, they must have played in more than 90 percent of the team's regular season games. For individual/team sports, the student-athlete must be physically able to compete at the finals site.
3. Credits completed shall only consist of those credits accumulated at the current institution and shall not include any transfer or AP credits.
4. Only undergraduate GPA is applicable. If the student-athlete has graduated and is in graduate school, he or she is still eligible for the award but consideration will be based strictly on an undergraduate GPA. Graduate students must be in good academic standing with the university.
5. Each student-athlete is only eligible to win the award once per academic year, even if he or she participates in more than one sport.

Swimming and indoor and outdoor track relays and divers:

- Swimming relay teams: A student-athlete must have qualified for the championship on his or her own merits. A student-athlete is not eligible to win if he or she is a relay alternate.
- Track relay teams: A student-athlete must have been on the relay team that achieved the qualifying mark to be eligible to win the award.
- Divers must qualify for the national championship portion of the meet to be eligible to win the award.

PLAY IT FORWARD

DII SAAC, a longtime supporter of Make-A-Wish, sees girl's dream come true

*Compiled by Jeremy Villanueva and Alexis Bussey
Reprinted from Fall 2019 NCAA Champion Magazine*

Four-year-old Aubrie Krowel and her mom, dad and sister walked through the hallway at the NCAA national office in Indianapolis, surrounded by Division II student-athletes who were just as excited as the family.

With each step, the Krowels received a different camping-themed gift: A brand-new pink sleeping bag. An outdoor adventure kit. A glow-in-the-dark rock painting kit. Even a children's book that had inspired the afternoon: Dr. Seuss' "Oh, the Places You'll Go!"

But the biggest gift awaited the Krowels outside. It was a camper, one that will help the family create new memories with Aubrie, who was born with Dravet syndrome, a form of epilepsy that forces her to stay close to home.

Airports — with their lights and movement — can trigger seizures for Aubrie. Their new adventures started on a summer Sunday outside the national office, where Aubrie climbed in and out of the camper.

"This was really important for us to be able to have for her as a way for her to get out of the house and be somewhat normal," said April Krowel, Aubrie's mother. "The look on her face going up and down those stairs, you could tell it was something special for her."

The national Division II Student-Athlete Advisory Committee hosted the wish reveal at the national office in Indianapolis through the Make-A-Wish Foundation.

Division II and Make-A-Wish began a partnership in 2003, but while Division II schools host wish reveals on campus, this marked the first time national SAAC was able to take part in one. The reveal occurred during the Division II SAAC and Management Council Summit.

Through the Make-A-Wish initiative, Division II schools across the country have been able to raise nearly $6 million and grant more than 700 wishes to children with life-threatening medical conditions.

"To see the passion the family has for Make-A-Wish combined with our passion for Make-A-Wish through national SAAC was an amazing opportunity to reveal to her that she gets to go camping," said Alex Shillow, Division II SAAC chair and a Texas A&M-Commerce football student-athlete. "It's a humbling experience to be part of something that is bigger than yourself."

The national Division II Student-Athlete Advisory Committee hosted a wish reveal for Aubrie Krowel, 4, and her family.

Jeremy Villanueva/NCAA

Shillow has been involved with two wish reveals at his institution, but with the average cost of a wish reveal near $10,000, not every student-athlete on national SAAC gets that experience.

"Throughout the years, we have had a number of [Division II schools] grant wishes on their campuses, but that doesn't mean our SAAC student-athletes have been a part of that," said Amanda Benzine, NCAA assistant director of championships and alliances and staff liaison to the Division II SAAC. "To be able to tell them that they get to be part of one, it was so great to see their faces."

The family was at an airport when Aubrie was 8 months old and experienced her first seizure. Since her diagnosis, she has had to remain mostly inside her home.

"These are the kind of people I want my daughters to look up to," April Krowel said. "People who are selfless, and I could tell they were so excited to give back."

Julia Hayes/Submitted

For the past eight years, Julia Hayes, a senior human services major at Delaware – where she is a middle blocker for the women's volleyball team – has spent almost every school break volunteering for Mission Haiti Helping Kids, an orphanage founded by her aunt in Haiti. During her 16 trips, Hayes has been instrumental in teaching physical activity classes and coordinating backpack and shoe drives for the orphanage.

University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

In July, Illinois athletes hosted an all-star game at Eichelberger Field for the Tom Jones Challenger League, a baseball league that provides a safe environment for players with varying degrees of physical or mental challenges. Student-athletes from several sports served as buddies during the game, helping players enjoy the game while allowing parents to be spectators and cheerleaders.

University of Wisconsin-River Falls

In the spring, a group of University of Wisconsin-River Falls student-athletes traveled to Longmont, Colorado, to participate in the Habitat for Humanity Collegiate Challenge, a one-week alternative school break volunteer program. The student-athletes helped build three duplexes in a community recovering from flood devastation.

Towson University

In celebration of the 49th annual Special Olympics Maryland Summer Games in June, Towson student-athletes volunteered at block parties, hosted swimming and diving clinics, played games of Connect Four and assisted at various events. While working the golf event, the Tigers took the golfers to putting greens, chipping areas and the driving range. Following the swimming clinic, the Special Olympians had an opportunity to compete before a home meet and then cheer on the Tigers.

CHAMPIONS IN COMPETITION. CHAMPIONS IN LIFE.

What made them great student-athletes makes them great employees

Every day, millions of former student-athletes from 1,100 NCAA schools prove the value of college sports, using what they learned in the classroom and on the field.

Former college athletes excel as leaders in all walks of life, across diverse professions throughout the global workforce. Celebrating this remarkable community, NCAA After the Game highlights the success these former student-athletes are having in post-collegiate careers and showcases how their experiences in college played a significant role in those achievements.

Also, to help them win in the biggest game of all — life — NCAA After the Game provides professional networking opportunities with former student-athletes across the nation, a career center connecting them to employers in diverse industries and position levels, more than 300 career-readiness assessments helping to prepare for their next role and an information hub offering tips to successfully transition to the next stage in their journey.

FROM THE DESK OF NCAA PRESIDENT MARK EMMERT

We are always proud of achievements on the field or court, but the opportunity to go to college and earn a degree is the true goal that college sports provides for nearly half a million student-athletes each year.

Welcome to the 2019 fall championships. Whatever the sport, an NCAA championship is viewed as the ultimate test for a college athlete who has reached this opportunity to compete through years of intense preparation and persistence. But in college sports the stakes are higher than a single victory. We are always proud of achievements on the field or court, but the opportunity to go to college and earn a degree is the true goal that college sports provides for nearly half a million student-athletes each year.

Playing a college sport is more than a game, tournament or season. It is the chance for young people to come to school to study, grow, connect with friends and learn intangible lessons that will benefit them for the rest of their lives. The NCAA has worked hard to improve these opportunities and support systems for all student-athletes. We have made significant strides and are not done yet. We're working to ensure that our students have as many opportunities as possible so that when they leave our campus, they leave as exceptional citizens. For most, that means earning a college degree and a professional career in something other than sports. It also means that we must make decisions that prioritize academics, well-being and fairness so that each student is able to take advantage of this unique time in their lives.

This championship season, we celebrate the competition we love most about college sports and recognize students for their achievements outside of it. Most importantly, we applaud these students not only for the win today, but for what else they will accomplish after. Enjoy the championship.
